About this piece

Archibald Knox, made by Carter & Co.

At the East Quay Works in Poole in Dorset for Liberty & Co., a rare and completely original pair of Arts and Crafts terracotta 'Olaf' planters with impressed Liberty makers marks. These are the best examples of an original pair of Olaf pots I have come across.

Archibald Knox, a leading designer at Liberty & Co., designed the best of the Cymric silver, gold, and Tudric Pewter wares, with his Celtic interlacing also finding its way in the form of carving onto Liberty furniture of the period. Knox took simple Celtic knot designs and turned them into complicated, accomplished designs that have spanned the test of time, directly influenced by M. H. Baillie Scott and inspired by ancient Celtic crosses where he grew up on the Isle of Man and the illuminated manuscripts of The Book of Kells where he drew further inspiration from.

Knox was so prolific, he designed over 5000 items between 1898 to 1906 and also registered fourteen garden ornament designs for Liberty & Co.. Knox garden designs feature in the Liberty & Co., 'Yule Tide Gifts' catalogue in 1903-4. For reference, see 'Archibald Knox & Mary Seaton Watts, Modern Celtic Art Garden Pottery. By Veronica Franklin Gould', and an article in Style Magazine by Dr. Stephen Martin:
